

JEFF BENNETT CONSTRUCTION CO., INC.

Jeff Bennett (LR, '06) has been in construction for 21 years. "I worked for my father for 17 years at Tom Bennett Construction and have worked for myself for four years after purchasing the business from him in 2004," said Bennett. "Jeff Bennett Construction Co., Inc. is the same great company as before, with the same values and service, just a new name. My company offers full-service contracting primarily for commercial and industrial projects."

Additionally, Jeff Bennett Construction does general contracting, development, and home building. "I have a general contracting company, a development company that sells lots and houses, and also a home building division called Bennett homes," Bennett explained. "I employ 10 people and do sub contracting for some of the work. The size and scope of our work ranges from design/build services for major commercial and industrial projects to plant maintenance and small repairs."

Integrity, quality work and the service customers receive has made Jeff Bennett Construction a successful business. "Getting projects completed on time and in within budget is a big deal to my customers," said Bennett. "Making sure that the work is not only completed on time but also done correctly when the job is complete is important."

Jeff Bennett Construction also reaches into outlying areas to do contracting and developing. "We primarily work the tri-county area – Gordon County, Bartow County, and Floyd County – and also work a few jobs in Polk County," said Bennett.

Jeff Bennett is a very involved member of the community, serving on various boards and in numerous organizations. "Being involved in civic organizations in the community is very important to me," said Bennett. "I am the president of the Lions Club, the Home Builders Association, and I am a member of the Exchange Club. I want to give something back to the community."

Since Bennett is very involved in the community personally, he also wanted his company involved by being a member of the Greater Rome Chamber of Commerce. "The Chamber works closely with its membership to help promote prosperity in the community," said Bennett. "One reason my company is a member of the Chamber is due to the fact that the Chamber of Commerce is a great resource for referring customers."

Post Your Events on www.rome.ga.com

As a member of the Greater Rome Chamber of Commerce, you can promote your events by posting them on the community calendar on the Chamber's official website at www.rome.ga.com. Not only will doing so get your event listed on one of the area's most viewed websites, but will also allow it to be included in Directions, a free bi-monthly magazine that is distributed throughout Rome, Cave Spring and Floyd County.

Another benefit of posting your events at rome.ga.com is it allows community organizations to plan their events around similar events, eliminating competition and giving everyone's gathering an opportunity for a large crowd.

It's easy. From www.rome.ga.com, click on the "community calendar" link just above the scrolling calendar on the left side of the page. After you have been directed to the community calendar page, click the "Add/Edit Events" link located just above the calendar. From there, you'll be on your way to adding special events to the community calendar.

If you need assistance, contact the Chamber at 706.291.7663.

The "Calendar of Events" listings in Directions are pulled directly from the community calendar at www.rome.ga.com. To be sure your event is listed in Directions, make sure it is posted at least two months prior to the event.
